high school, plays varsity football, track, and basketball): It occurred to me that it was a Flying Saucer at about the same time as it did to everyone else. I felt kind of weird. It makes you begin to wonder. I don't think, though, that it was from outer space.

Sp/3 Ted Wimbish, Gardena (works for North American): It was so shiny and bright I couldn't look at it even with glasses. I thought they were kidding when they said it was a Flying Saucer. I'm sure it's ours and not from outer space. My wife laughed it off.

M/Sgt. William R. Lyons, 22406 Ladeene ave., (machinist; was paratrooper with 101st Airborne in World War II, served three years): (Lyons was the first to spot the object) I was watching a pumper on the top of the mountain when this thing rose out of the valley. I started asking myself questions. Then I figured it must be a Flying Saucer. I didn't know what to do. I wasn't going to say anything—then I thought of asking the captain. I think it was possibly from outer space. I don't think we have anything like it. How did I feel? Excited. I finally saw one!

Sp/3 Robert McNeil of Gardena (works for Crown-Zellerbach): I was in the third truck of the convoy. I saw the object but didn't pay much attention to it, until someone called it to my attention. It looked like a Flying Saucer. It might be an experimental project.

Corp. James Lee of Gardena, (carpenter): I started looking when I saw the captain looking.

Pvt. James Brownlee (Mira Costa high school senior): I think it's one of our own.

Pvt. Gus Sanchez of 18528 Falda (carpenter): If it's from outer space, I'd want to see it first, face to face. I didn't feel anything. I was just tired.

THE DENTIST SAYS:

ERNEST J. TARR, D.D.S.

BLEEDING GUMS CAUSE LOSS OF TEETH

QUESTION—
"The gums around my lower front teeth bleed very easily. How can this condition be cured?" asks Mrs. R. K. of Lomita.

ANSWER—
Bleeding of the gums around the teeth might be caused by either of two things—tartar accumulation irritating the gums or excessive pressure caused by chewing mainly towards the front of the mouth.

Where the back teeth are missing and not replaced, the two jaws will come closed together than they should so that the upper front teeth come down over the lower more than they did before. Overlapping creates more pressure, resulting in strain on the teeth and damage to the bony support, which in turn is accompanied by inflammation and congestion of the gums. Then, the gums bleed easily.

So you can see that bleeding of the gums around the front teeth often comes as a result of missing teeth in the back of the mouth. This is also aggravated by tartar accumulations on the inside surfaces of the teeth.

If these conditions are not corrected, the overtaxed teeth will be endangered. Of course, there are other causes for bleeding gums but the two above are among the most prominent.

jets with swept-back wings flew under this object, and the behavior and speed of the object in comparison with the jet was like a flea jumping off a dog's back.

It's A 'Flying Saucer'

"Oh, my!" I suddenly thought. It's a 'Flying Saucer!' I radioed my chief warrant officer, Robert V. Feldman immediately. He was bringing up the rear of the convoy.

"I signaled as follows: Emergency, Unidentified Flying Object, 45 degrees to the left.

"Have you been watching that, too?" Feldman radioed back.

"We saw the object for about eight minutes before it disappeared. This happened just as it was time to halt the convoy. Some of the men had seen the object, too. To look at them, you'd think they'd seen a ghost.

"We broke up again shortly after and suddenly there it was again. This time it was straight ahead of us. It only stayed in sight for about three minutes and then vanished.

"All we ever saw was this shiny, perfectly round, object, clear-cut and not fused around the edges—as if we were looking at the top of a tin can. We could never see any of the details, like windows or so on.

"It seemed as if the object was observing us," Horlander continued. "We didn't have any ammunition with us. If we had had anti-aircraft guns we could have picked it off probably. Mike (Gonta) felt as if he could even have blasted it with his M-1 rifle.

It's A UFO

"How do I feel about it? You notice I didn't call it a Flying Saucer—I called it a UFO (Unidentified Flying Object). I wouldn't believe in one (Flying Saucer) until it actually landed and I could look at it. But this sure has converted me from the point of having ridiculed the idea to admitting its possibility.

"The experience left us all with a weird feeling. During the break the fellows just sat there stary-eyed as if someone had drowned. It sort of scared the hell out of me—it was like a real bad accident. You just wanted to drive by.

"We spotted the thing close to Ft. Mugu, the Naval Guided Missile Testing Station. I think the 'Flying Saucer' belongs to us!"

The 98,000 sq. ft. building will be located on a 10-acre site, according to B. L. Stone, general manager, of Vickers incorporated, El Segundo division.

The facility will be used as engineering, sales and production facility to produce hydraulic equipment. Part of the present operation will be moved from El Segundo.

Date of occupancy has been set for March 1957. Donald F. Shaw is general contractor. Donald R. Warren co. are the engineers.

Vickers Manufacturing co. was founded in 1920 in Los Angeles by Harry F. Vickers, a pioneer hydraulic engineer. In 1925 Vickers developed a hydraulic steering gear for motor vehicles and a high pressure vane pump.

With the development of additional products the company expanded rapidly and was renamed Vickers incorporated.

In 1930, an experimental plant was established in Detroit, Michigan, and by the end of 1930 the entire business was transferred to Detroit.

The expansion of the company over the years has resulted in the establishment of plants in Michigan, Connecticut, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Missouri, Mississippi and California.
